Part 1
Freedom of Information

Division 1
Obtaining Access to Records

Information rights

6(1) An applicant has a right of access to any record in the custody or under the control of a public body, including a record containing personal information about the applicant.

(2) The right of access to a record does not extend to information excepted from disclosure under Division 2 of this Part, but if that information can reasonably be severed from a record, an applicant has a right of access to the remainder of the record.

(3) The right of access to a record is subject to the payment of any fee required under this Act.

How to make a request

7(1) To obtain access to a record, a person must make a request to the public body that the person believes has custody or control of the record.

(2) A request must

- (a) be in writing,
- (b) be submitted to the public body the applicant believes has custody or control of the record,
- (c) provide enough detail to enable the public body to locate and identify the record within a reasonable time with reasonable effort, and
- (d) be accompanied by a fee where a fee is required under this Act.

(3) If a request does not provide enough detail to enable a public body to locate or identify a record within a reasonable time with reasonable effort, the public body may request further information from the applicant that is necessary to process the request, and the applicant shall respond within 30 business days with the information being requested.

(4) In a request, the applicant may ask

- (a) for a copy of the record, or
- (b) to examine the record.

Requests by public bodies

8 A public body may not make a request to another public body under section 7(1) to obtain access to a record in the custody or under the control of the other public body.

Power to disregard requests

9(1) The head of a public body may disregard a request made under section 7(1) if

- (a) responding to the request would unreasonably interfere with the operations of the public body or amount to an abuse of the right to make a request because the request has been made repeatedly or in a systematic nature,

- (b) the request is abusive, threatening, frivolous or vexatious or is made in an abusive or threatening manner,
- (c) the information the request relates to has already been provided to the applicant, or has been made available to the public under section 90 or 91,
- (d) despite receiving further information from an applicant under section 7(3), the request does not meet the requirements of section 7(2)(c) because the public body does not have information that is sufficiently clear to enable the public body to locate and identify the record within a reasonable time with reasonable effort, or
- (e) the request is otherwise overly broad or incomprehensible.

(2) Where the head of a public body has disregarded a request, the applicant must be told

- (a) the reasons for the decision to disregard the request, and
- (b) that the applicant may ask for a review of that decision under Part 3.

(3) The public body must notify the applicant that the applicant's request has been disregarded within 30 business days after the public body receives the request.

(4) Despite subsection (3), if the applicant's request is being disregarded under subsection (1)(d), the public body must notify the applicant that the applicant's request has been disregarded within 30 days after receiving the applicant's response to the public body's request for further information under section 7(3).

Abandoned request

10(1) Where the head of a public body contacts an applicant in writing respecting the applicant's request, including

- (a) seeking further information from the applicant that is necessary to process the request, including but not limited to a request for further information under section 7(3), or

- (b) requesting the applicant to pay a fee or to agree to pay a fee, and the applicant fails to respond to the head of the public body, as requested by the head, within 30 business days after being contacted, the head of the public body may, by notice in writing to the applicant, declare the request abandoned.

- (2) A notice under subsection (1) must state that the applicant may ask for a review under Part 3.

Continuing request

11(1) An applicant may indicate in a request that the request, if granted, continues to have effect for a specified period of up to 2 years.

(2) The head of a public body granting a request that continues to have effect for a specified period must provide to the applicant

- (a) a schedule showing dates in the specified period on which the request will be deemed to have been received and explaining why those dates were chosen, and
- (b) a statement that the applicant may ask the Commissioner to review the schedule.

(3) This Act applies to a request that continues to have effect for a specified period as if a new request were made on each of the dates shown in the schedule.

Duty to assist applicants

12(1) Subject to the regulations, the head of a public body must make every reasonable effort to assist applicants and to respond to each applicant openly, accurately and completely, and in accordance with the regulations.

(2) The head of a public body must, subject to the exceptions set out in this Act, provide an applicant access to a record if providing the record

- (a) can be done using the public body's normal computer hardware and software and technical expertise,

- (b) would not unreasonably interfere with the operations of the public body, and
- (c) would be reasonable and practical.

Time limit for responding

13(1) The head of a public body must make every reasonable effort to respond to a request not later than 30 business days after the requirements of section 7(2) have been met unless

- (a) the request has been disregarded under section 9 or declared abandoned under section 10,
- (b) the time limit is extended under section 16, or
- (c) the request has been transferred under section 17 to another public body.

(2) The failure of the head to respond to a request within the 30-day period or any extended period is to be treated as a decision to refuse access to the record.

Contents of response

14(1) In a response under section 13, the applicant must be told

- (a) whether access to the record or part of it is granted or refused,
- (b) if access to the record or part of it is granted, where, when and how access will be given, and
- (c) if access to the record or part of it is refused,
 - (i) the reasons for the refusal and the provision of this Act on which the refusal is based,
 - (ii) the email address, telephone number or other contact information to which the applicant may direct the applicant's questions about the refusal, and
 - (iii) that the applicant may ask for a review of that decision by the Commissioner or an independent adjudicator, as the case may be.

(2) Despite subsection (1)(c)(i), the head of a public body may, in a response, refuse to confirm or deny the existence of

- (a) a record containing information described in section 21 or 23, or
- (b) a record containing personal information about a third party if disclosing the existence of the information would be an unreasonable invasion of the third party's personal privacy.

How access will be given

15(1) If an applicant is told under section 14(1) that access will be granted, the head of the public body must comply with this section.

(2) If the applicant has asked for a copy of a record and the record can reasonably be reproduced,

- (a) a copy of the record or part of it must be provided with the response, or
- (b) the applicant must be given reasons for any delay in providing the copy.

(3) If there will be a delay in providing the copy under subsection (2), the applicant must be told where, when and how the copy will be provided.

(4) If the applicant has asked to examine a record or for a copy of a record that cannot reasonably be reproduced, the applicant

- (a) must be permitted to examine the record or part of it, or
- (b) must be given access in accordance with the regulations.

Extending time limit for responding

16(1) The head of a public body may extend the time for responding to a request for up to 30 business days if

- (a) the applicant agrees,
- (b) a large number of records are requested and more time is required to process the request, or
