

Bill No. 67 of 1941.

A BILL TO AMEND THE TEACHERS' RETIREMENT
FUND ACT

---

NOTE.

This Bill amends The Teachers' Retirement Fund Act.

The amendment to paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section 4 of the Act provides for payments made on behalf of teachers during absence as provided in the new subsection (3) of section 5 added by section 3 of the Bill.

The amendment to subsection (2) of section 4 enables the Board to keep separate records of each teacher's payments without having a separate account.

The change in the proviso to section 5 (1) (a) is to put a duty on School Boards to forward deductions from salaries of teachers to the Board of Administrators at the times required by it but not oftener than once a month. By a further amendment to said section, substitute and temporary teachers are excused from contributing to the Fund, except when employed for ten days in any month. The new subsection (3) of said section gives the Board authority to accept contributions from teachers during absence in cases approved by the Board. Teachers on active service can apply for this privilege and teachers absent for other reasons may also have this privilege, in the discretion of the Board.
